There convened, on the 8th day of January, 1879 during Saturday rising barometer. (Professor D. A. Loomis, M. D., chairman), at the head office of the Holman Liver Pad Company, 93 William street, New York, a large delegation-a first general reunion-consisting of all the many important agents of the United States, the Canadas, and representatives from Europe and Asia, for the specific purposes of reviewing the pros and cons of the past practical workings of this most wonderful sys-Get Gas for 81.60-Gas Facts---Read tem of succe-sfully treating disease by absorption without the use of medicine, as illustrated in the Holman Liver Pad Company's remedies; and in a united manner to decide what course in future should, in their jud ment, be adopted as the best and of which have not been without cause. In speedlest plan to meet the great and increasing demand that is daily manifested from every quarter of mand that is daily manifested from every quarter of the globe not only for the remedies, but also to with the works. It is the City Council, lears the proper mode of utilizing them.

Much time and a tention was faithfully given to hearing the many interesting reports of the wonderful efficacy found in this way of treating disease wherever it had been faithfully used. The subject took a wide and extended range. It was found from these official sources that nearly every kind of curable disease known to the human system, so far as it had come within their knowledge, had been successtally treated to a marvellous degree, and to an extent never before known in the history of medicine; and that the number of its patrons during the short time since its introduction was unprecedented ; that long since ceased to be an experiment, and its sucest should forever stand a burning di grace to the medical faculty that it had not for ages past availed itself of a principle-Nature's wn law, illustrated in every portion of the human body, and the entire economy of Nature; as old as the universe, as fixed as any natural law can be, and unalterably certain in its good results as a reatment when properly utilized; with little or no difference as to cliuate or nationality in its uniformfry of action. What makes it more precious still is that its comparative small expense brings it within the reach of ail. It is now attracting the attenion and receiving the endorsement of every fairminded physician wherever an opportunity is affordd for testing its practical workings. Added to this the fact that many distinguished in their rofession are now counted as ec-workers so that an enormous army of enthusiastic friends, who have been made happy through of these simple remedies (a large oportion of whom have found everything heretofore failing them), are working zealously among the afflicted, overcoming prejudice by living examples of cares; or, what is better still, the sucful prevention of disease. It was clearly deconstrated that where fallures did occur it was traceable to a want of proper knowledge how to use these remedies; and that not withstanding this company had endeavored, through the druggists, to the latter sum going into the treasury to their part by the patients, yet it had been found that a great and fatal error, as whole, had been committed in ever placing these remedies (a treatment, as it is, distinet by itself) in their hands for sale, by the side of drugs and patent nostrums. Because first, the principle, absorption, is in direct opposiion with their system, drugs. Because also that, o a certain extent, it is contrary (as they claim) to their business interests on account of its cheapnes

This decision opens up large and wide field of usefulness to good and effiient persons everywhere, and on a basis of pecuniaresults that warrant little or no risk in the enterrise; the particulars of which can always be learnd by making application to the office nearest them hose having felt or seen the practical workings of consumers of the city. What are the facts? For the year 1877, ending January 31, 1878,

It appears from the French population to resident in France numbered 801,700 per most striking fact shown by the tables is the relatively great number of adults in France and the small number of children. Where-per cent. The figures are as follows: Under sixty, 22,527,000; and over sixty, 4,361,000.

As regards the occupations of the French people, 18,968,000, or 53 per cent., are engaged in agriculture; 9,274,000, or 26 per cent., in manufacturing and similar industries; 3,837,000, or 14 per cent., in trades; and 1,231,000, or 4 per cent, in liberal professions; 2,150,000 being of no occupation. Of the agricultural population, 10,620,000 cultivate their own pro-

Mr. McCulloch then made a plain and candid statement of his connection with this debt matter, in which he seemed to recognize the impracticability of securing an increase of taxation. City Council .- A called meeting of this body was held last night to take action in regard to the bill presented by Mr. Attkisson in the House of Delegates relating to the essment of toll on the Free bridge-present : Messrs. Howle, Spain, Gentry, Royall, Batcheler, Kahn, Gibbs, Perdue, Patterson, and Gallagher. Messrs. Owens and Ballowe were absent.

Several citizens were in attendance and were allowed to speak upon the bill. Judge Clopton was called upon to give his views relating to it, but not being prepared to say anything in regard to it declined.

After a considerable discussion on both sides—several members taking active parts against it-Mr. Royall, thinking it a question that should not be too hastily acted upon, and that the Council should take time before acting upon a question of such importance, moved that further action upon it be postponed until next Monday night at 7 o'clock, when the question of the annexytion of Manchester to Richmond will come Adjourned.

> Poeta Nascitur, Non Fit .- This side of the James has gotten to be quite a favorite resort for high-toned Englishmen. We have been visited during the last few days by a strange-looking specimen of humanity, claiming to be some celebrated poet from our mother country, but, from general appearances, reminds one of a war-worn Confederate flig.
